Memories

all the gray you turned into colors...

Bob & Nancy O'Briant

Are hearts are with Pat's immediate and extended families. Doesn't seem that long ago when Pat played a command performance in my mother's front yard. "Battle of the Bands" actually, she didn't have a lawn for a year after that event. Seemed like all of Post Falls and Coeur d'Alene high school students attended. Three bands, great music and lots of fun. Just one of the memories we will always treasure.

Bobbi McDonald

I just want to add a few memories. I didn't know Pat really well, but had spent some time talking with him. He was always funny, nice, and welcomed us into his home. He was a great man and will be remembered and missed by many people.

We use to take our kids to Pat and Astrid's house every year on Halloween, my youngest was about 2yrs old so that was about 8 yrs ago, but they always had the house all decorated and I remember pat sitting in front of the garage door. He always looked scary and was stirring a witches brew. Haley my youngest was so scared of him that she would walk way around him crying and then she would run to the door. She was always fine after he would come in to visit with us, but she never relized it was the same person. The last time I saw Pat was 2007 the day we moved from Idaho to Nevada, we had a goodbye get together and Pat and Astrid where there. It was sure nice to see them.
RIP Pat you will be missed!

Stef

I was 10 or 11 and my mom and Pat just started dating. My mom left for Germany to visit her sick dad or short notice. I guess I was being a little dramatic because Pat offered to bring me for ice cream and the falls park whenever I missed my mom. And me being a small kid and a lover of ice cream called him probably about every other day and without hesitation he would be over to pick me up for ice cream. He was always good on his promises, be it ice cream or embarrassing me in front of my friends for being a rotten teenager sometimes. Till we meet again, love ya and you will be forever missed.

Keshia

I remember when we went fishing together for the first time. It was so funny, I remember my bright pink fishing pole LOL. He kept telling me, "make sure you keep your eye on that bobber!" We ended up gettin side tracked and Pat looked out into the water and said, " Kesh, wheres your bobber?" I grabbed my pole and reeled in a 14 inch rainbow trout! Of course he didnt catch a fish that day, so I was the only one who brought one home! He gave me greif about that just this last summer. He says, "If it wasnt for me, you would'nt have caught that fish." He was right, I didnt really know what I was doing. Its a good memory. I have Many Many more of course, but for some reason, this one came to my mind first! RIP to my Step monster! I will always love you and miss you!
